UNPLND Typography System

Version 1.0

Purpose

Typography is the voice of the interface.

Users should immediately understand:

What is important.

What is secondary.

What requires action.

Good typography removes confusion.

Bad typography creates friction.

Philosophy

Readable first.

Beautiful second.

Never sacrifice readability.

Typography should disappear into the experience.

The user should never think about fonts.

But intentionally.

Maximum:

One emoji per message.

Never stack emojis.

Never use emojis inside navigation.

Never use emojis as icons.

Writing Style

Short.

Friendly.

Confident.

Never robotic.

Never corporate.

Never over-explain.

Example

Good

Ready for tonight?

Bad

Please configure your personalized activity preferences.

Empty States

Always encouraging.

Examples

Let's create your first memory.

Ready for your next adventure?

Tonight is still empty.

Error Messages

Friendly.

Helpful.

Actionable.

Bad

Network Error.

Good

Something went wrong.

Let's try again.

We've adjusted your plan.

Your album is ready.

Tone

Relaxed.

Warm.

Optimistic.

Minimal.

Premium.

Golden Rule

Every sentence should sound like it was written by a thoughtful human.

Not by software.

Claude Instructions

Whenever generating text:

Prefer fewer words.

Never sound technical.

Never use marketing buzzwords.

Always choose the simpler sentence.

If two options exist...

Choose the warmer one.

Typography and copywriting together define the personality of UNPLND.

Protect that personality.
